MEAN TRICK ON EX-HUSBAND.

To see how her divorced husband, Matt Campbell, would take it, Mrs. William Griffith, of Tuscola, Ill., sent a false report of her death to him on Thursday at Champagne, Ill., and followed on the next train, to observe his actions. Mrs. Griffith wrote that she intended to commit suicide and would leave directions that her body be shipped to him at Champagne for burial. In the letter she even told him on what train the body would arrive.

Campbell spread the news and a group of mourners met the train, many of them carrying flowers. Arrangements had been made with a local undertaker and preacher for the funeral and the grave had been prepared. The train arrived, but no corpse.

Campbell was surprised, and then became uneasy, thinking perhaps the body had been sent to some other town by mistake. He telegraphed to Tuscola and on the way back home he met his former wife, whom he thought dead, face to face. Campbell was hardly able to believe his sight and when convinced he was not facing a ghost asked for an explanation and was told she merely wanted to see how he would act if she had died.

SHORT OUTPUT OF KRAUT.

The indications are that the German staple, sauerkraut, will be more relished during the coming fall and winter than ever before. The weather conditions during the summer have been such as to greatly shorten the crop of cabbage. Drouths in the west and the north have been responsible for many barren cabbage fields.

Early cabbage sprouts were killed off before they were a month old, and farmers and shippers are now depending on late crops. Even should these crops reach their full growth by October, the kraut packers of the eastern section of the country will be prevented from putting up their usual stocks.

In Baltimore, however, the prominent kraut packers are soliciting orders, but they have also informed the retail dealers of the outlook. If it is possible to secure cabbage the kraut will be delivered.

TO PROBE THE ANTARCTIC.

Acclaimed by a great crowd, including representatives of the government, the steamer Pourquoi Pas left Havre, Saturday, on a voyage of discovery to the South Pole. The expedition is a private one and is headed by Dr. Jean Charcot, who led a similiar voyage in 1905. In addition to a number of young scientists there is a crew of 28 on the ship.

After reaching Alexander's Land Dr. Charcot plans to explore and define the southern limits of the Pacific ocean, and to determine accurately whether or not there is a vast continent extending as far south as the pole itself. The expedition is fitted out for three years, but the members expect to live largely on the result of their hunting and fishing in the Antarctic.

ATLANTIC CITY WIDE OPEN.

Fifty thousand people went to Atlantic City to get a Sunday drink yesterday, according to figures of railroad men and the deductions of cafe and saloon proprietors, who reaped a harvest from the defiance of Gov. Forts' order to close the Sunday saloons of the resort.

Bars which ran in the usual free and easy style of the Atlantic City Sunday did a record business, men standing in line three deep.

Only one arrest was made during the day, John Hardy, a Philadelphian, who imbibed too much.

Chief Prober Fiske, of the governor's commission, who started the row over the open Atlantic City, Sunday, was among the promenaders on the boardwalk, and gave out an interview in which he declared that Gov. Fort would find some way to force the resort to obey the laws.

EXPLORER DIES IN SNOWSTORM

The ship Denmark, of the Denmark, Greenland Expedition, arrived at Bergen, Norway, Saturday. It appears that the body of Danish explorer, Mylius Erichsen, who perished in a snowstorm while traveling over the ice on the northeastern coast of Greenland was not recovered. During the explorations an extensive group of islands was discovered between latitude 78° and 79°. The members of the expedition also found the depot left by Commander Robert E. Peary, near Cape Bridgman, during their progress northward.

Mr. Erichsen and Lieutenants Hagen and Broenlund perished in November, 1907, in trying to return from the north coast of Greenland by way of inland ice, having been obliged to remain on the north coast during the summer of that year owing to the state of the weather.

MONDAY EVENING, AUG. 17, 1908.

FOLLOWING a negro's attack on a white woman, Springfield, the capital of Illinois and home of Lincoln, has for two days been the scene of one of the bitterest race wars in years. Three white men are dead, two negroes have been lynched and more than seventy-five persons, black and white, have been injured by bullets and other missiles. Scores of houses have been burned and hundreds of negroes are homeless. Three regiments of the Illinois National Guard are protecting the city. The whole affair is a disgrace to Springfield, but shows how easy it is for a mob to form and how hard it is to control one. The fiend who attacked the woman had been captured and was safe in jail and the attempt to wreak vengeance on the other blacks, simply because they were blacks, was wrong and inexcusable. In Illinois in recent years there have been two or three savage outbreaks of race animosity, and one of the most stubborn fights between the mob and the militia trying to prevent a lynching occurred a few years ago in Ohio. These facts should make the northern south-haters a little more circumspect in their tirades against race prejudice in the south.

FRANCIS E. MCGOVERN, district attorney of Milwaukee county and a republican candidate for nomination for U. S. Senator, from Wisconsin in a speech last Friday said: "The Dingley tariff has now been in effect more than ten years. Five hundred millions of dollars each year for ten years makes an aggregate of five billion dollars unnecessarily taken from the consumers of the country for the benefit of the already rich." This is concisely put and true, every word of it, and the great masses of voters in the west are beginning to realize how they are being robbed by the tariff.

"SMILE, damn you, smile;" was the password of the four hundred delegates of the "Prosperity Congress" which met in New York last week, but the smile was sickly and many of the delegates scowled. One of the speakers said: "I was told that the unemployed intended to descend on this body and ask for the merest scraps of food. There must be deep seated cause for such a state of affairs." This manufactured prosperity smile is one that soon comes off when confronted with facts.

IT APPEARS that pillage was one of the incentives in the recent riots in Springfield, Ill., and that the leader of the mob which wrecked Loper's cafe was a woman. She was arrested, and officers who searched her resort say they discovered table linens and silver belonging to Loper in the house. The houses of many of the blacks, it is said, were also looted by the mob. Nothing like this has ever been reported in the south.

DISPATCHES from Alaska tell of the recent abandonment of Copper Center, once a flourishing town in the Klondike. Of the 1,200 buildings there not one is now occupied, nor is there a single person in town. Failure of the gold deposits caused the general exodus of 10,000 inhabitants. This is nothing new, as the west is dotted over with such spots.

A WOMAN was locked up in New York on Saturday because she had killed her husband, who urged her to lead an immoral life that he might live in idleness. She should be liberated at once and given a cromo.

A RECEIVER was appointed on Saturday for the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, one of the largest producers in the bituminous region. How do the prosperity proclaimers explain this?

FIFTY YEARS ago yesterday the laying of the first Atlantic cable was completed.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Aug. 17.

The government having purchased the Baldwin dirigible balloon, after a series of remarkably successful tests at Fort Myer last week, aeronautic interest now centers in the forthcoming experiments with the Wright Brothers' heavier-than-air machine, a duplicate of the one that has been making such marvelous flights in France recently. Orville Wright is expected here tomorrow with his aeroplane, from Dayton, O. He will begin trial flights as soon as the craft can be assembled. Under the terms of the government contract, he will have until the last of September to fulfill the speed and endurance specifications. If the machine makes a speed of 40 miles an hour, on a five mile straight away course and return, and the endurance test of one hour's flight at a later date is satisfactory to the government experts, the Wrights will receive $25,000 for their machine. A bonus of ten per cent. will be paid for each mile over 40. If the best speed attained is less than 36 miles an hour, the machine will be rejected by the government.

Thirty butchers to take the place of the men who quit work at the packing establishments last week arrived in Washington this morning and were put to work.

The cornerstone of the Immaculate Conception School for Boys, on Eighth street near N, was laid yesterday with imposing ceremonies by Right Rev. P. J. Donahue, bishop of Wheeling, W. Va.

It is reported that Gifford Pinchot may retire as chief of the forestry department should Mr. Taft be elected and become a member of the latter's cabinet.

CAN'T TAX STANDING TIMBER.

Circuit Judge West, of Lawrenceville, Brunswick county, on Saturday rendered a decision in favor of the Camp Manufacturing Company and others, who resisted taxation by the state and county upon standing timber separate and apart from the taxation upon the land upon which the timber is growing. The decision is of far-reaching effect. The loss to the state in taxes will be $20,000.

THE ILLINOIS RIOT.

The second lynching of the Springfield, Ill., riot occurred at Spring and Edward streets Saturday night.

A negro named William Donegon, 85 years old, was strung up to a telephone pole by a mob of such proportions that the firemen and policemen who responded to the first alarm were unable to handle it. Reinforcements of troops were sent for.

Another disturbance took place in front of the State Armory, where a crowd gathered and threatened to storm the building wherein were housed a number of negro refugees. Company L, of the Fourth infantry, and Troop B, of the cavalry, who were sent to the place, charged the mob with bayonets and dispersed it. The affair was simultaneous with the lynching of Donegon, four blocks away.

The lynching took place within two blocks of the state capitol. Govenor Deneen was in his office, and at once ordered the troops to scatter the crowd at all hazards. The mob broke thefore the cavalry.

Women, children and colored people have fled from the city, and business on Saturday evening was suspended.

Following a night of false alarms, which came in rapid succession after the lynching of William Donigan, the aged negro, the militia and police by the means of scores of arrests secured a semblance of quiet yesterday.

Two riots, however, broke out about 6 o'clock in the evening, and but for the prompt arrival of the militia at both places other dwellings would have been burned, and probably another lynching would have taken place.

At Sixth and Edwards streets a crowd had gathered, composed principally of miners and foreigners, and one man was urging his hearers to attack dwellings in the black belt, several blocks east.

The crowd was interrupted by a patrol, which ordered it to disperse, but instead of doing so turned and attacked the soldiers. A shot fired in the air attracted the attention of a company of the First Regiment, and fifty soldiers were rushed to the place.

With rifles in readiness, the soldiers advanced upon the mob. For a time it stood its ground, but when the captain declared he would order his men to fire unless they broke up, the men turned and ran down the street. Several of the rioters were captured and taken to the county jail.

Rev. S. P. Shipman of Hurlock, Md., who was recently beaten soundly by Thomas Carew, of Dames Quarter, Md., when he found the pastor in the room with his wife, will leave the ministry rather than face a trial.

Despite all urging, threats and commands from Governor Fort and other reformers who would make Atlantic City dry, prosecutor Goldenburg absolutely refuses to to take possession of the saloons, said to be violating the liquor law.

Mr. Taft began work today on the speech he is to deliver next Friday to Virginia republicans who are to hold a rally at Hot Springs, Va. It is expected that Taft will pay his respects to Bryan in this address and answer some of the attacks contained in the latters speech of acceptance.

Mystery in the fate of Faith Davis, sixteen years old, whose body has been found in a pond at Paomer, Mass., is stirring that neighborhood. The girl disappeared from her home Friday. She was clad only in a house dress and had taken no money with her.

Sight of her son's mangled hand has caused the death of Mrs. Robert A. Howie, of East Orange, N.J. When her son, A. A. Howie, asked his mother to dress the hand, the mother did so but soon desisted, saying the sight of the blood made her feel "faint and queer." Then the woman went upstairs in their home and in a few mintes fell dead on the floor.

The Norfolk police have started a crusade against high betting at poker games there, and in a raid early Saturday morning they captured 27 people at J. Arthur Wynn's rooms. Captain Ford, who was the first to enter the room in which the gambling was being carried on, declared that there was more than a thousand dollars on the table.

Congressman Jay F. Laning, of the Fourteenth Ohio District, a republican, must stand trial on four charges of embezzlement and one of larceny according to the decision of Judge Doyle, of Akron, who today overruled both the motion to quash and the plea in abatement filed by Laning's attorneys. The indictments against the congressman resulted from the failure of the Ohio Trust Company, of Norwalk.

Five million barrels of oil, at a dollar a barrel, have been lost in the oil fire in the San Geronimo district, Mex., which has been raging uninterruptedly since July 4. The efforts to extinguish the fire by pumps throwing mud and sand into the fire crater, have not yet proved of any avail, though the American engineers in charge of the work are confident that they will succeed. By the end of the week engineers say they will have the flames under control.

Making a general denial to the charges preferred against him by Walter Laidlaw, chairman of the anti-race track gambling campaign that he failed to suppress gambling at the Saratoga race meet, John Bradley, jr., sheriff of Saratoga county this afternoon in his answer to Gov. Hughes demanded that the charges be dismissed. Instead of taking testimony in person on the charges, Gov. Hughes announced that he would appoint a commissioner to act.

A private cablegram received in Baltimore today announces the death at Bad Naugheim, Germany, of Frank S. Hambleton, millionaire banker and senior member of the firm of Hambleton & Co., of Baltimore. Mr. Hambleton was one of the most widely known financiers in the south.

King Edward, still regarded as Europe's arbiter of fashion, is meeting with all sorts of annoyances in his visit to Marienbad from those who seek not only to copy the king in the matter of clothes, but also in his walk, gestures and mannerisms. Every morning when the king appears on the public promenade tailors from other European capitals flit about him, making notes of his attire and sketching those suits which appear unusually smart.

Charles Radcliffe, wanted in Wilmington, N. C., for murder, is under arrest in Philadelphia. When arraigned before a magistrate today on the charge of having robbed Mrs. Adam McCoy, his benefactor, of clothing, Mrs. McCoy turned on Radcliffe and informed the magistrate that the prisoner was a desperate criminal and that there was a standing reward of $1,000 for a murder committed in Wilmington a few months ago. He was held without bail and the North Carolina authorities are being communicated with.

A farmer near Jacksonville, N. J., yesterday refused to allow a game of baseball to be played on his ground, but the players laughed at him. He thereupon turned his bull loose in the field and the game came to a sudden end.

His Swan Song.

New York, Aug. 17.—With the strains of the Polish National hymn still sounding from his loved violin, Harry Lippmann fell today from the roof of the four-story tenement at 315 east Eighth street and was killed on the pavement below. Lippmann lived with his brother at the place of his death. Returning home early this morning he found himself locked out and going to the roof leaned over the edge and played a few bars to attract attention. The air was his swan song for his foot slipped on the coping and he plunged to his death.

These men are taken up by the opposing trains for the rest of their runs.

A Flat Denial.

Fairview' Lincoln, Neb. Aug. 17.—W. J. Bryan absolutely denies that he sold out "Col. James Guffey, of Pittsburg, for $200,000 and that he has failed to receive the money." Mrs. Spooner, immediately before her act, wrote a statement in which she said she could no longer support her family and that it was better they should all go together to where there was no starvation. The letter was found beside the woman when neighbors, aroused by her shot, rushed into the home and found the woman's bleeding form on the floor surrounded by the children who were writhing in agony.

Today's Telegraphic News

Quiet in Springfield.

Springfield, Illinois, Aug. 17.—The State militia is in control of the city this morning, following a night of comparative quiet. Soldiers are patrolling every street. After a conference with Gov. Deneen, States Attorney Hatch today will ask the courts to order a special grand jury to investigate the rioting and return indictments against more than 200 citizens who are under arrest.

Only once during the night was there a serious attempt to cause further trouble. That was when three men tried to cut the electric light wires. The attempt was frustrated by soldiers who fired on the men; one was injured before they made their escape.

In addition to this an attempt was made to burn more negro quarters on the northwest side of the city. Prompt action by the fire department and a battalion of the First Infantry prevented any serious damage.

Today it is believed the saner spirits will prevail and any further outbreaks will be prevented.

The presence of more than 5,000 troops, in addition to the action being taken by States Attorney Hatch on the advice and with the backing of Governor Deneen, is expected to break the backbone of the mob spirit. Insults to soldiers are causing arrests and every step is being taken to show the citizens that the troops are on hand to enforce the law.

More than ten thousand visitors were brought into Springfield yesterday by excursion trains to view the havoc wrought by the mob.

During the day the food problem became serious. With the five thousand troops in the city and the additional excursionists bakers, provision dealers and others were pushed to the limit. County and city authorities found much trouble getting sufficient food for the negro refugees under their care.

The funerals today of Frank Delmore and John Caldwell, the two miners shot by negroes, are being looked forward to by the police and militia with apprehension. Hundreds of miners from the surrounding country are expected to attend the funeral and some demonstration is looked for.

Judge James A. Creighton, of the Circuit Court, this morning ordered a special grand jury to convene tomorrow morning to take up the case of Richardson, charged with criminal assault on Mrs. Hallam. After his case has been disposed of, the cases of the rioters will be considered.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—City, state and military authorities today are centering their attention on the second stage of the riot history, the investigation of the outrages and the arrest and indictment of the guilty leaders.

Nearly 200 arrests of alleged leaders of the mobs during the past two days have been made, and of these it is confidently believed more than fifty will be indicted.

So far five persons are dead as the result of the riots.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—A Law and Order League composed of negro residents of the South Side, will be formed tomorrow night at a mass meeting at the Institutional African Methodist Church. This decision was arrived at after a consultation of negro ministers. Rev. H. E. Stuart, pastor of the church, one of the movers said today:

"The bad and lawless element of the negro race has and will continue to affect the better element. Our people are judged by the worse element and unless we rise and condemn and fight against this lawless class, we will be rightly judged. In the trouble at Springfield, we are apt perhaps to condemn the whites. But we must accept our share of the responsibility. We should form an organization to protect ourselves and rid the community of negro law-breakers."

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Police are today giving their attention to the prevention of trouble in Chicago's "black belt." The murder of an aged woman by a negro and subsequent threats of mob violence and the beating of a white man by a black yesterday were the first indications of unrest inspired by the Springfield riots. Two street duels among negroes added to the record of bloodshed and caused extra policemen to be assigned to the "black belt" today. The murdered woman was Mrs. Lucy Briggs, 65 years old, who was beaten to death with a chair at her home by Clayton N. Williams, colored, who is under arrest. Williams has been greatly agitated over the riots at Springfield and neighbors told the police that he thought Mrs. Briggs, his landlady was possessed of evil spirits and he had determined to rid her of them. James McClellan was attacked and beaten by a negro late last last night. A negro is under arrest charged with committing the crime. Before McClellan could defend himself, the negro struck him over the head with a pitcher. Police stopped the fight and arrested the negro.

The Hains Case Postponed.

New York, Aug. 17.—Pale but without other outward evidence of excitement, Captain Peter C. Hains and his brother, T. Jenkins, this morning faced Magistrate Gilroy in the Long Island City police court, charged with the murder of William E. Annis, at Flushing, Saturday afternoon.

Contrary to expectation the hearing begun with formal questions on the part of the magistrate and was cut short after a whispered consultation between District Attorney Darrin, and W. E. Percy, the lawyer for the Hains family. The result of the conference was then reported to the magistrate who adjourned the case until one week from today. Though neither the prisoners, their aged father, General P. C. Hains, nor Lawyer Percy would consent to an interview, it was learned upon absolute authority that the "unwritten law" will again be invoked.

No chance is to be given to Mrs. Hains to deny the alleged confession in detail; she herself declared that she does not exactly remember the contents of the document. The Hains brothers were brought to court handcuffed, but released as they entered the court room.

Sheriff Harvey, who holds the brothers in custody, says that neither seems to be worried over the outcome of their case. Extra precautions are being taken by General Hains at Fort Hancock to prevent his son's discarded wife from kidnapping her three children from their grandmother's care. One attempt was foiled yesterday and it is feared others will be made.

Just prior to the arraignment of the Hains brothers today District Attorney Darrin declared that he would ask indictments for murder against both men.

The Sultan Victorious

Tangier, Aug. 17.—Reports just received from the army of Abdul Aziz, the sultan of record, say that the 200 prisoners captured in the recent engagement with the forces of Mulai Hafid, the pretender, were massacred as the "most convenient" way of disposing of them.

Several foreign officers who are fighting with the sultan, protested against such a barbaric course, but Abdul himself, it is stated, ordered their death in retaliation for the losses his army sustained in the early stages of the battle.

The battle, which will undoubtedly terminate the war in the sultan's favor, was fought near Marriakesh and it was at first reported as a sweeping victory for the pretender.

The arrival of reinforcements was unexpected and the tide of battle turned wholly against Mulai. Abdul Aziz reports that 300 of the pretender's force were killed and 500 wounded and so much booty taken that it was necessary to sell it for little or nothing before the army could move.

Abdul is following up his victory, determined not to give the pretender an opportunity of reassembling a formidable army.

Japan Anxious.

Tokio, Aug. 17.—Following the declaration of Count Okuma that the naval expansion of the United States is aimed directly at Japan and the agitation in America of a closer alliance with China toward Japanese ascendancy in the Orient, Prince Ito, Japanese resident general in Korea, declared today that the increasing military and naval strength of Japan is indispensable for the maintenance of peace in Asia and on the Pacific. The prince professes to believe that his sacred mission is the reformation of Korea and that the suppression of insurrection by slaughtering of native rebels is a part of this reformation. He warns the Japanese people against a superficial criticism of the country's foreign policy. Ito's views are supposed to represent the attitude of the Japanese government which is thus clearly one of continued expansion and domination in the east. The feeling is growing in Japan that sooner or later the mikado will clash with the United States on the question of the respective "spheres of influence" in the Orient.

England's Navy.

London, Aug. 17.—Publication in today's paper of a proposed naval expenditure of $500,000,000 in the hope of checking "by sheer financial boldness the renewed competition in naval power" has aroused a storm of protest from the socialists and members of the labor party. While it is generally believed that England would hardly dare to engage in such a startling plan of naval expansion, the recognized opponents of naval extravgance are voicing their protests in no uncertain terms.

A. M. P. who is an exponent of an enlarged navy said today: "The scheme is really the most economical that can be proposed. If other European powers knew that we had a half billion dollars to expend in maintaining our "two power naval strength, they would cease trying to compete with us. It would act as a deterrant in naval expansion. Of course England has no idea of immediately increasing her naval expenditures by any such sum."

Mrs. Hains.

Winthrop, Mass., Aug. 17.—The discarded wife of Captain Peter C. Hains, whose alleged confession, he says, drove him to kill William E. Annis Saturday afternoon at the Bay Side Yacht Club, will be one of the most important witnesses of the prosecution when her husband and brother-in-law come to trial. The young wife is expected to return home today after being repulsed in her efforts to get possession of her three children, for whom she made a hasty trip to New York as soon as she learned of the tragedy. The only statement thus far obtained from Mrs. Hains was the bitter interview she gave out Saturday night when she declared her belief that both the Hains had made a terrible mistake and that she hoped they would swing for it. Charles H. Libbey, her father, is a lawyer, and he is busy today gathering evidence to disprove Hains's charges.

Charged With Murder.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Stephen Summer, for many years prominent in trade unions, and two other union officials, are today out on $5,000 bond charged with being an assessory to the attempted murder of Wirt B. Spyear, a Kensington milk dealer. Spyear was waylaid and shot down at his home by three men yesterday. The shooting is declared by the police to have been done by a "wrecking crew," consequent upon the refusal of Spyear to join the milk wagon drivers union. He is expected to die. Harry Ferry, business agent of the Teamsters Local and George Turner, secretary of the milk drivers local, are also being held by the police in connection with the affair.

Threatened Attack.

The Hague, Aug. 17—It was officially announced here today that part of the Colonial reserve troops would leave Saturday for Curacao to strengthen the Dutch force which the government may send against Venezuela. Convinced that the United States will not interfere if the Netherlands attempts a demonstration against Castro, the government has determined to meet out punishment to Venezuela and it is likely punishment will be an attack both by land and sea if Castro does not make amends. The war spirit in the Netherlands is running high, though the opponents of war confidently hope for peace.

Steamer Blown Up.

Petoskey, Mich., Aug. 17.—The excursion steamer Leelanau was blown up on Carp Lake early this morning. Three are known to be dead, more than a dozen are missing, two fatally injured and a number hurt. There were at least fifty persons on board the steamer.

Carp Lake is a small lake situated seven and a half miles south of Mackinaw City, near the town of Carp Lake, with a population of 150, which is increased to several hundred by resorters during the summer.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving remembrance of my dear daughter, PEARL I. SULLIVAN, who died ten years ago today.

When you ask, "Do we miss her?"
Yes! It fills our heart with pain;
But her spirit softly whispers,
"Weep not, in heaven we'll meet again."
Fold her hands in silent slumber,
For her work on earth is done;
In her dreams she saw the Master,
And he beckoned her to come.

By her loving MOTHER AND SISTER.

A TRAGEDY.

Capt. Peter Hains, jr., of the Forty-eighth Company, U. S. Coast Artillery, accompanied by his brother, Thornton Hains, a magazine writer, went to the Bay Side Yacht Club at Flushing, N. Y., Saturday afternoon, waited an hour until William E. Annis, a member of the club, came in with his racing sloop and then Thornton Hains held the crowd back with a revolver while his brother fired six shots from a magazine pistol into the body of Annis. Then the two men gave up their revolvers and, sitting down on the veranda of the yacht clubhouse, waited for policemen to come. Captain Hains made an informal statement to the police, in which he said that his wife, whom he is suing for a divorce, has been intimate with Annis.

Hains sometime since publicly made the threat that he would kill on sight the man he held responsible for his domestic troubles, Capt. Hains is a son of Brig. Gen. Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., retired. Annis, whom Capt. Hains' brother had accused of having been improperly attentive to the captain's wife, died in the Flushing Hospital a few hours after the shooting. A crowd of gayly dressed women and yachtsmen, among whom was Mrs. Annis, witnessed the tragedy. She vainly tried to warn Annis of danger. Annis's last words were that the slayer killed the wrong man.

Mrs. Hains says that Mr. Annis was entirely innocent of the charges against him made by Capt. Hains in his petition, and that the charge against him is merely incidental to the conspiracy against her.

"There was never any lost love between Thornton Hains and myself, said Mrs. Hains last night. During the early years of my marriage he was forbidden to our house. He was jealous of the success of Mr. Annis and he attributed the rejection of many of his own contributions to the influence of Mr. Annis. We think that he has been urging Peter on to do the shooting. Although Capt. Hains has a violent, ungovernable temper, there is a great deal of good in him and he would not have done this if he had not been influenced by his brother.

Captain Hains eloped with his wife, Miss Claudia Libbey, of Winthrop, Mass., in 1900, when she was a schoolgirl of 16. So far as is known they had lived happily together until last fall, when Captain Hains received letters from his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, that caused him to come from the Philippines to the United States early in June of this year to inquire about his wife, whom he had left at Fort Hamilton, N. Y. Assertions made by the brother concerning the wife caused a break between them, so bitter that their father intervened and made a personal investigation. After he had completed his inquiry he laid facts before the son that caused him to file a petition for divorce. The captain's parents at once took charge of his three children and took them to their country home for the summer. Capt. Hains was transferred yesterday from the Flushing police station to the Queens county jail, at Long Island City. A preliminary examination into the shooting will be held today.

The killing of "Ned Hannigan by T. Jenkins Hains while out sailing near Fort Monroe, 17 years ago, will be recalled in connection with the present case. Hains claimed that Hannigan threatened his life. He was acquitted but the verdict was not popular. The case was fought on the line of self-defense, although a woman figured conspicuously in the events leading up to the homicide.

Army officers here today are highly indignant over the attitude of Mrs. Hains over the Annis killing and her expressed hope that "the law will hang them both" is strongly criticised. Mrs. Hains is quoted thus on her husband's crime and the causes that led up to its particulars an alleged signed confession that W. E. Annis was the father of her unborn child; "There is no confession in existence. I had nothing to confess. I did sign a document, the contents of which I knew nothing, but I did it because I was forced to.

E. H. Dinwiddie, buyer for the Upland Coal Company, and well known in the coal fields, was thrown under a Norfolk and Western train while trying to board a coach in motion at Elk Horn yesterday and had both legs and one arm cut off near the body. He died last night. His home was near Roanoke.

CHOKED AND ROBBED.

Sunday morning about 4:20 a message was received at the station house that Mrs. Mary J. Cole, who lives near St. Elmo, Alexandria county, had been brutally beaten and choked and robbed of $95, which was hidden under a mattress. It appears that Mrs. Cole is a boarding house keeper but there was no one on the premises on this occasion. The negro who committed the act was as fully aware of this as was the victim of the assault, as he had obtained food from her that evening. The assault was brutal, rendering Mrs. Cole unconscious. As soon as she could regain her feet and half clad she hurried to the home of Constable E. J. Pennypacker, a short distance away, from whose house the news was sent to the police station in this city. According to the story which she told the constable Mrs. Cole was asleep on the second floor when she was awakened by the noise made by the negro.

Knowing she was alone she became distracted. The negro knowing the surroundings and fearing her outcry would arouse the neighbors, lost no time in preventing any unusual noise. Just as she arose in bed preparatory to getting out he grabbed her by the throat and choked her into insensibility and proceeded to ransack the house. Seeing she was helpless he succeeded in getting the money and escaped. After telling her story to the constable she returned home and fell in a faint just as she reached the door. She was discoverrd in this condition by neighbors and Dr. S. B. Moore, of this city, was sent for and hurried to the scene. It seems that most of Mrs. Cole's boarders are railroad men whose work is at night in the Potomac yards, which accounts for the house being deserted at this time. Some of them had paid their board on Saturday and she placed the money under a mattress for safe keeping. The negro had been seen in the neighborhood for several days and is described as a man about 23 years old, short and heavy set and weighing about 160 pounds. It is said he went in the direction of the Potomac yards after committing the robbery. A telephone message from St. Elmo this evening, stated that Mrs. Cole had almost recovered her normal condition and that the account of the affair had been exaggerated. No posse had been formed to look for the man.

It was a scene long to be remembered as showers of congratulations were heaped on the couple after the ceremony. Mr. Joseph Monroe played the wedding march as the couple entered the parlors. Mr. Ryan and his wife will spend some time in Washington, Baltimore and Pen Mar, and will go to Boston before his return to his duties in Richmond.

NOISY EXCURSIONISTS.

Every Sunday morning the stillness is broken by the arrival in this city of a number of half drunken negroes who have spent most of the night on an excursion down the river. It does not seem to make any difference to them what time the boat leaves this city and it is quite certain the time of arrival here is of no concern to them. It is said that on the arrival of the boat here yesterday morning a number of shots were exchanged just to show the good cheer prevailing between the Washington negroes and those in this city.

These gentlemen are doing everything in their power to give pleasure to both old and young and may the attendance be such as will merit their effort.

MISS R. T. KLIPSTEIN,
Assistant Secretary.

TROUBLESOME YOUNG MEN.

That an idle brain in the devilis "workshop" is proved true each morning at the police court, when various cases are heard by Justice Caton. Four young white men none of whom had the appearance of being twenty-one years old were before the court this morning and the testimony given tended to show that on Saturday night they were all intoxicated and one or two of them had at least a pint or two in bottles on their persons. They engaged in a general "mix up" and were fined by the police justice this morning.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT.

Announcement of the excursion to Luna Park, on Wednesday, for the benefit of the hospital, was made in the Sunday schools yesterday and free tickets were distributed to children. All Sunday school teachers and officers are here asked to be on the grounds during the afternoon and assist in the caretaking of the immense crowds expected. As heretofore stated the entire gate receipts will go to the fund. The regular vaudeville show will be held during the afternoon and evening.

THREW SHOE AT HIS WIFE.

Family troubles will be aired again in the Police Court tomorrow morning, as Officer Rawlett arrested a young white man named William Long this afternoon who lives in the southwestern section of the city charged with throwing a shoe at his wife and with other abuse. It seems that many old shoes are used on happy occasions when couples unite in wedlock, but this time the same article may cause a separation.

STEAMER MAE ARRIVES.

The Bull steamer Mae, on whose trip south from New York Captain Henshaw died at sea, arrived at this port Saturday evening from Port Tampa under command of Capt. Charles W. Hafley, who was chief officer. The steamer was berthed yesterday and will discharge a full cargo of 3,000 tons of phosphate rock to the Alexandria Fertilizer & Chemical Company.

THE CHURCHES.

At St. Paul's Church the services yesterday were conducted by Rev. L. R. Coombs. At the Second Presbyterian Church Rev. W. McC. White officiated. The services at the M. E. Church South were conducted by Rev. P. C. Coe. The services in the other churches were in charge of the resident clergy. The congregations were of by means large.

DISORDERLY YOUNG MAN.

J. W. Wood, a young white man, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Mr. Clint Ballenger, of West End, charged with destroying property and discharging a pistol in the air much to the disgust of church-goers yesterday. He was brought to this city, but as it was a matter for the county to settle the young man was turned over to the Fairfax authorities.

VIRGINIAS DEFEAT CARDINALS

The Virginias defeated the Cardinals on the fair grounds Saturday afternoon by the score of 15 to 2. The feature of the game was the pitching of Smith for the Virginias.

MOVING PICTURE HOUSES.

The two houses are trying their best to please the people and are meeting with success. As will be seen by their advertisements a good programme is on for tonight. Come out and see the pictures.

Dear Sir: There are thousands of just such cases as this:

Dress Goods
From the Great Auction Sale of Arlington Mills and American Woolen Mills.

On Wednesday, August 5, and Thursday, August 6, respectively, a great peremptory trade sale of Dress Goods, aggregating over 60,000 pieces, and at an estimated value of over $1,500,000, occurred in New York. Every piece of Dress Goods in this remarkable sale was snapped up with avidity, for they were sold at half and less than established market value. We were big buyers—our name was called out often. Many lots were knocked down to us at only a fraction of their worth. We are going to hand them over to you on the same basis—or even less—to induce early fall dress goods buying. See display in our windows—then see the display on twenty large tables. A glance will be convincing.

Golfing Feats.

The Scottish golfer who undertook for a wager to drive a ball a mile in a dozen consecutive shots probably set himself an easier task than some of his predecessors north of the Tweed.

Among the most interesting wagers of this kind was one taken in the Burgess Golfing society in 1798 that no two members could drive a ball over the spire of St. Giles' steeple. The feat was attempted by a Mr. Scoales of Leith and Mr. Smellie, a printer, each being allowed six balls, and both competitors succeeded in sending their balls well over the weathercock, a height of more than 160 feet from the ground.

Some years later Donald McLean, a writer to the Signet, won a substantial bet by driving a ball over Melville's monument, in St. Andrew square, while several Scotchmen have performed the difficult feat of driving the ball from Burntisfield links to the top of Arthur's seat, a species of golfing steeplechase which requires considerable stamina as well as skill.—Westminster Gazette.

A Little More Than Your Income.

A young man, being asked how much it cost to live in New York city, replied, "A little more than your income, whatever that is." A young city clergyman on his first round of parish calls found a family on the verge of starvation. The man had been out of work for months. He had a wife and five children, the youngest a baby. They had just eaten the last bit of food in the house. The young clergyman gave them $5 and collected for them $20 more before the day was out. A few days later he called to see about getting work for the man. They were again on the point of starving. With the $25 the woman had bought a fine new baby carriage, some coffee and sugar. When the clergyman expostulated she indignantly denied extravagance. The children had broken the old carriage, and it was necessary the baby should have a daily airing. As for the coffee it was the first they had had in weeks. They were accustomed to it and needed it.—Appleton's Magazine.

A Queer Cough Mixture.

Mrs. Delaney, so well known as an eighteenth century personage, had a strange prescription for a cough mixture. Writing to a friend in January, 1758, she says: "Does Mary cough in the night? Two or three snails boiled in her barley water or tea water or whatever she drinks might be of great service to her. Taken in time they have done wonderful cures. She must know nothing of it. They give no manner of taste. It would be best nobody should know it but yourself, and I should imagine six or eight boiled in a quart of water and strained off and put in a bottle would be a good way, adding a spoonful or two of that to every liquid she takes. They must be fresh done every two or three days; otherwise they grow too thick." A strange remedy, and one wonders whether "Mary" took it and benefited by it.

Misjudged.

A Scotsman was traveling in a third class smoking carriage on a north of England line when at a small station a fishwife with a creel opened the door. Not relishing the prospect of such company, the Scotsman said in his smoothest tones, "Ah, this is a smoking carriage, my good woman!" The fishwife took no notice, but pushed in. "My good woman, this is a smoking carriage," repeated the male passenger in louder tones. The fishwife put her creel in the corner and sat down opposite to him, and the train started. Then the woman put her hand in a pocket of her blue petticoat, took out a large black pipe, lit it, and, blowing a cloud of rank smoke that nearly suffocated her companion, remarked, "And so, my mannie, ye thocht nasebody could tak' a draw but yersel'!"

A Big Swallow.

A detective was testifying in the case of a woman shoplifter whom he had arrested in her own house.

"And, your honor," said he, "when I told her the charge she turned her back to me and swallowed a purse, six suits of silk underwear, a silver candlestick and a chafing dish, and"—

"Rubbish! Are you crazy?" the magistrate interrupted.

"Excuse me. What I mean to say, your honor," explained the detective, "is that she swallowed the pawn tickets."

A Little Bit Thick.

"Yes," said the old salt, "I've seen some pretty thick fogs in my time. Why, off the coast of Newfoundland the fog was sometimes so thick that we used to sit on the rail and lean against it! We were sitting one night, as usual, with our backs up against the fog, when suddenly the fog lifted, and we all went flop into the water. A bit thick, wasn't it?"

National Conversations.

If you see three men standing together on the sidewalk in any given country, you can guess the subject of their conversation. In Germany it is the army; in Russia, the bureaucracy; in France, women; in the United States, business; in England, sport, and in Turkey nothing at all.—Brussels Derniere Heure.

Her Way.

"I wouldn't cry like that if I were you," said a lady to little Alice.

"Well," said Alice between her sobs, "you can cry any way you like, but this is my way."—United Presbyterian.

Life is measured by experience and not by years.—Latin Proverb.

WATERWORKS DISGRACE.

An Indignant Protest Against Conditions That Would Not Be Tolerated If Kansas City's Waterworks Were Privately Owned and Operated.

If the Kansas City waterworks system were owned and operated by a private corporation instead of by the municipality, it is easy to imagine that the newly created public utilities commission would be in continuous session these days and nights in a frantic effort to provide against an interruption of service because of floods. The commission would be making loud and insistent lament against the negligence and incapacity of a management that permits the waterworks of a great city to be menaced almost every spring, and peremptory orders would be issued demanding a correction of the fault under pain of forfeiture of franchise. And the commission would be fully justified in so doing.

Under municipal control the waterworks of Kansas City are and always have been a costly failure that would not be tolerated if a private corporation were responsible for their condition. Last fall when there was an interruption of the gas supply for a day the mayor instantly ordered an "investigation," although it was shown that the company operating the gas system had not completed its extensive arrangements to insure a continuous supply of gas to all of the city. Kansas City enjoys unsurpassed street car and telephone service, but if anything should happen to these utilities to endanger or inconvenience the public the politicians would be on their feet instanter demanding reprisals and punishments. Yet week after week and month after month go by and the water plant remains the same old uncertain and unreliable tax eating testimonial to the city's incapacity and patience.

Municipal ownership and operation were never more of a failure than in the instance of Kansas City and its water supply. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended upon the waterworks, engineers have been hired and discharged, flow lines have been built and washed away, high priced pumps and other equipment have been purchased and installed, and yet the system is only a precarious patchwork which any unusual condition jeopardizes. If Kansas City's waterworks were privately owned and operated the people of this community would rise and demand that they be torn up and an entirely new and up to date system constructed. As a municipal institution, however, it is tolerated as the prey of politicians and the reward of partisan patronage.—Kansas City Journal.
